BALLOT EXPERT NEFFNER TAKES GRIFFITH POST

Statistician Named By Gov. Bricker; Serves Until Nov. 5

OHIO G. O. P. PLANS WRITE-IN DRIVE

Hope to Nominate Neffner Over E. F. Hummel Of Cincinnati

COLUMBUS, April 2. — George Neffner, Ohio's election expert, was appointed secretary of state today as speculation mounted that he would be the Republican organization's "write-in" candidate for nomination to the office at the May 14 primary.

Neffner's selection by Gov. John W. Bricker to succeed the late H. Earl Griffith is effective until Nov. 5 when a "short-term" candidate will be elected to serve until Jan. 1.

Await Signal
Ohio Republicans are awaiting the official "go" signal for an unprecedented campaign to write-in Neffner's name for the Republican nomination.

Some party leaders, frankly admitting that such a drive would be a tremendous undertaking, were confident that the state organization would be equal to the task.

Others, however, were doubtful that as many as 150,000 voters could be persuaded to write Neffner's name on the ballot instead of marking the customary "X" beside the name of Edward J. Hummel of Cincinnati.

The death of Secretary of State Earl Griffith last Saturday left Hummel as the only remaining candidate qualified for a position on the ballot. Hummel and the Republican state organization long have been at odds.

Decision Due Today
The "write-in" campaign proposal will be submitted to the party's state central committee late today for final approval.

The governor's appointee will serve until after the Nov. 5 election, when a short-term secretary of state will take over until January, 1941.

Neffner, a Republican from New Vienna, has been chief statistician in the secretary of state's office for 10 years, serving under two Democrats and two Republicans.

Approximately 700 persons attended funeral services for Griffith yesterday in the Trinity Methodist church at Mt. Gilead. The rites were conducted by the Rev. Alex E. Hawke, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of Mt. Vernon.

Tire Blows Out and Three Are Injured

Three Harrisburg, Pa. youths suffered face and head lacerations Monday morning when the automobile in which they were riding overturned along Route 14, near Deerfield.

The trio, Aaron Markus, 16, William Hiken, 26, and Nathan Sherman, 16, were treated at Alliance City hospital. The driver, Sylvan Levin, 25, of Harrisburg, escaped uninjured.

State patrolmen said the car upset when a rear tire blew out.

Athletics At High School Operate Under New System; Lewis F. Smith Is Director

Given Full Power to Formulate and Carry Out Policies, Supervising Activities In All Branches of Sports

Announcement that a director of athletics at Salem High school is now a definite part of the school's athletic program was made by Supt. E. S. Kerr at the board of education's April meeting Monday night.

The directorship is held by Lewis F. Smith, former football coach who was named to the position when the program was approved by the board and introduced as a trial plan some time ago.

"After several trials," Supt. Kerr told board members last night, "we believe we have found a very workable plan of organization for the administration of our High school athletics."

"The set-up consists of a director of athletics, vested with full power to formulate and to carry out policies of athletics for Salem High school."

"The faculty manager, the head coaches and assistant coaches for the different sports all are responsible to the director, who has the authority to make decisions and to see that those decisions are carried out. Such a direct hook-up centers responsibility and leaves little room for slack in the machinery, or for pull and haul."

Qualified for Post
The superintendent further explained that Athletic Director Lewis Smith is well qualified for the task through training, experience and through acquaintance with High school athletics in Salem. Smith, a graduate of Wisconsin university and a former Big Ten football player, has coached both football and basketball for many years. He has been associated with Salem High school for five years.

Supt. Kerr added that Smith will have the "full support of both the High school principal and the superintendent of schools, and that such a closely adjusted, gear-driven machine ought to make for a vigorous program of High school athletics."

There was little other business before the board last night.

Arch H. Wentz chairman of the city council's committee investigating the possibilities of a swimming pool for Salem, and Walter F. Deming, chairman of the citizens' swimming pool committee, appeared before the board last night.

KANSAS VOTERS SEEK CLEAN-UP

Special Election Seen As Challenge To Old Regime

KANSAS CITY? April 2.—Cleanup forces challenged the powerful Democratic organization on which "Boss" Tom Pendergast rode to power and to replace today's special election to replace every elective official in Kansas City's 30-story, scandal-ridden city hall.

An "honest and secret count" of the ballots was promised by the election board of Gov. Lloyd Stark, a Democrat, but a bitter foe of Pendergastism. More than 200,000 voters are registered and J. E. Woodmansee, board chairman, forecast a total vote of around 180,000.

A mayor, eight councilmen and two municipal judges will be selected to replace machine-elected officials whose terms were cut from four years to two in a recent charter election forced by fusionists.

Independent Democrats, Republicans and non-partisan civic groups banded together as the United Campaign Committee to demand control of the government. John B. Gage, an attorney and Democrat, is their candidate for mayor. Of their other 10 candidates, five are Democrats and five Republicans.

Fusionists claim the only issue in the non-partisan election is "machine rule."

The Democratic organization nominated Flavel Robertson, also an attorney, for mayor. It ignored every office holder in drafting its ticket, so regardless of which group wins, every elective office will have a new occupant.

Leaders of both tickets have denounced the machine and its rule, but Pendergast's loyal workers are doing their best for the Democratic organization candidates.

Policeman Injured

ZANESVILLE, April 2.—Clifford Courtney, 34 member of the Zanesville police department and grand treasurer of the Fraternal Order of Police, is in serious condition today with injuries suffered in an automobile crash six miles south of here.

Also injured were his wife, Edith, 30; his mother, Mrs. Flora Courtney, 74; and Lawrence Wolfe, 31, of White Cottage. Courtney has been mentioned as a possible successor to Police Chief J. H. Kimberley, whose resignation becomes effective June 1.

ARMY OF CENSUS TAKERS SWARMS OVER AMERICA

Eight Are Assigned To Cover Salem City District

IT'S THE LATEST U. S. "QUIZ GAME"

Sen. Tobey, Meanwhile, Continues Fight In Capital

On horse and foot, by boat and plane, the census enumerators went calling on Mr. and Mrs. America today, while in Washington Senator Tobey (R-NH) peeped away at their heels with another oratorical fusillade.

Some 120,000 strong, the legion of enumerators set out on the long trek which will take them a total of 25,000,000 miles, produce the answers to more than 2,000,000,000 questions and tell the nation how far it has come since leisurely census men in Colonial dress made the first tabulation in 1790.

Eight Work in Salem

The census takers swarmed over Salem and the rest of Columbiana county this morning, starting out at approximately 8 o'clock. Eight enumerators were assigned to Salem by John Fickes of Wellsville, district census director.

Twenty workers were busy at East Liverpool, seven in Wellsville, three in Lisbon, two in Columbiana, one in Leetonia and one in Salineville.

Thirty others were covering the rural districts and farms of the county.

The census takers working in the northern half of the county were scheduled to meet with Fickes at the courthouse at 3:30 today to report any problems which may have arisen.

Back at Washington, there was no "Godspeed" from Tobey, who has been waging war against census questions on personal income.

Counselling people to refuse answers to the income questions on the ground that they violate privacy, Tobey announced he had

VOTE WATCHED IN WISCONSIN

Nation Looks For Some Inkling On Third Term Question

(By Associated Press)
The Wisconsin presidential primary took top place on the national political program today beside John L. Lewis' threat to organize a third party movement unless the Democrats choose a candidate and platform acceptable to labor and the common people.

The nation looked to the Wisconsin vote for some inkling on how Democrats feel about the third term question, and on how Senator Arthur Vandenberg (R, Mich.) and Thomas E. Dewey, New York prosecutor, shape up as Republican presidential contenders.

First Test Seen
As both parties selected slates of 24 delegates for their national conventions, the Democratic side offered the first test of sentiment between President Roosevelt and Vice President Garner. The issue was not as clear cut as it might be, however, because there were two rival Roosevelt slates in the field, against the one Garner ticket.

A big question was where supporters of the LaFollette Progressive party would throw their strength. The law lets them vote in either the Democratic or the Republican primary.

Prospects For Fruit Good, Wheat Fair, Says Copeland

Although the winter wheat crop looks as none too good, District Weather Observer L. H. Copeland, in his report for March today, says that the prospects for fruit are good, with all buds now being in a dormant stage.

Farmers, he adds, have been unable to do any field work and a backward planting season is apparent.

Copeland explained that the winter wheat shows the effects of too much frigid weather. With the exception of March, 1916, last month was one of the coldest.

The month had a mean temperature of 32.1 degrees, a maximum of 71, on the 29th; and a minimum of 7 on March 24. The mean temperature recorded in March, 1916, the coldest March on record, was 29.2 degrees, the observer pointed out.

Spring Time Is Flood Time in Many Sections

Spring floods inundate low-lying areas in many sections of the United States, causing hundreds of families to flee to higher ground and hampering communication and highway travel. At Scranton, Pa., top, rowboats were put to use on city streets, while at Maryville, Cal., below, the swollen Feather river went on a mild rampage. At least 10 deaths were recorded in the United States.

OLD NAIL MILL PLANT IS SOLD

Purchase Made By National Sanitary Company; Will Continue In Use As Warehouse

The National Sanitary company today announced the purchase of the former nail mill plant from the American Steel & Wire Co.

The plant had been leased as a warehouse during the last year by the Salem company, which will continue to use it for the same purpose. Part of the building is sublet to the Mullins Manufacturing Corp.

National Sanitary Co. officials stated that the additional warehouse facilities made it possible to maintain full operations at their plant during the last winter.

Burden of Safety Promotion Placed On City Officials

COLUMBUS, April 2. — Paul G. Hoffman, Studebaker Corporation president, believes campaigns by civic groups to promote traffic safety will fail unless public authorities take the lead.

Hoffman, who heads the Automotive Safety Foundation, told approximately 50 newsmen at a safety seminar that civic safety campaigns could only supplement strict enforcement of traffic laws.

"The first requisite in a program of accident reduction is a sincere and competent group of public officials with a well-formulated program," Hoffman asserted. "If this element is not present, safety activities are apt to prove futile."

He asked newspapers to "throw the spotlight of publicity" on ticket "fixing" practices.

"Everyone must obey the laws, and no one can be immune if worthwhile results are to be obtained," he said.

Lieut. Franklin M. Kreml, director of the Northwestern university traffic institute, declared many police departments have abandoned ticket "fixing" as a dangerous practice, "only to have the evil grow in the courts, where traffic violators are dismissed."

He suggested that "at least 80 per cent and possibly 90 per cent" of traffic arrests should result in convictions.

The seminar will conclude Wednesday.

Communities Along 100 Miles of Susquehanna Await Crests

"DOUBLE CREST" FEARED BY MANY

At Least 6 Known Dead; 25,000 Estimated Homeless

(By Associated Press)
WILKES-BARRE, Pa., April 2. — Fearful of fresh devastation, communities along 100 miles of Pennsylvania's flood-choked Susquehanna river watched anxiously today as the crest rolled southward, with thousands homeless and other thousands ready to flee.

Flood-ravaged towns drew some encouragement from a prediction by federal and state forecasters that although the normally placid stream still was rising at some points, "stationary or falling stages will prevail" throughout the entire system, including two branches.

Double Crest Feared

The river began dropping here last night after remaining stationary at nine feet above flood level for several hours, but early today it began rising again slowly. Observers warned of a double-crest such as in the 1936 flood when the stream began to fall, only to rise an additional five feet later.

Drought-stricken at Sunbury, where the last crest was a branch of the river, the level began receding after back waters from creeks flooded two square miles.

Red Cross and other relief agencies hurriedly set up stations to aid thousands of refugees housed in churches, schools and other large buildings. Coast guardsmen from neighboring New Jersey joined in evacuating families.

Schools, Business Suspend

Schools were closed throughout the flood-stricken area. Business in many places was at a standstill. A majority of roads were closed and cellars of hundreds of homes inundated.

The WPA authorized expenditure of $103,000 for emergency aid. This antiraid city, where 1,500 persons accepted a 1400-mile trip which was the nerve of the flood relief set-up. Wilkes-Barre, neighboring Kingston and Plymouth across the river, and Sunbury have suffered most so far. At least six persons were known dead. Estimates of homeless ranged as high as 25,000. None ventured to

WHO'S SUPPOSED TO BE KIDDED?

Politicians are gay fellows and great kidders. But their humor in the political reform movement that started with the Hatch act of last year is getting too obvious to be funny.

Purpose of the original act was to rap the fingers of vote manipulators who were reaching into public relief rolls. The act passed because members of both major parties were afraid of another New Deal purge. This year's Hatch bill, which started out to apply the same restriction to state jobholders drawing part of their pay from the federal government, now has been flossed up with two irrelevant amendments.

One would restrict individual contributions to a national committee to $5,000. Another, which has sprouted in the house of representatives, would limit a national party committee's campaign expenditures to $3,000,000.

Both restrictions are meaningless and unenforceable; politicians know they are, but hope the public will rise to the bait. In the first place congress cannot control expenditures by state and local committees. Contributors would distribute their money to conceal large totals; in 1936 the du Pont family gave the Republican party $620,000, but about one tenth of it was given to the national committee. Of $770,000 contributed by trade unions to the Democratic campaign, only $130,000 went to the national committee. Limiting national committee expenditures is futile.

It is recalled in the same connection that the present federal corrupt practice act forbids campaign contributions by corporations, but corporations bought extensive and expensive advertising space in the official program of the 1936 Democratic convention and purchased large numbers of copies. Laws without honesty of purpose behind them are worse than no laws at all. If the politicians are trying to make a travesty of political reform they're doing a fine job.

SHARING THEIR BLESSINGS

Nowhere else in the world do human beings respond to the invitation to share their blessings as willingly as Americans respond.

That isn't a statement of wishful thinking, but of fact. On the fact is built the elaborate structure of American philanthropy.

Part of the structure is the American Red Cross, which last year celebrated its 75th anniversary. Its purpose is to furnish volunteer aid to the sick and wounded in time of war and to continue to carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace and to apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other great national calamities. During its latest fiscal year the organization gave food, shelter, clothing and medical aid following 157 disasters.

Salem chapter of the American Red Cross has just completed its fiscal year with a record of participating in relief in those national disasters as well as doing an enormous job of relief, care for the sick and a variety of constructive tasks in helping others to help themselves. The importance of its position as a great social service agency in the community is attested to by the membership during the last year—the largest in its history. Such a response from the public is one of the ways Americans prove to themselves their gratitude for fellowship in the most generous country on earth.

AN EXPERT SLANT

One of the peculiarities of the parking problem in American cities is the quantity of expert attention lavished upon it. This is due to the fact that almost every car owner looks upon himself as an expert and says so.

The fact is, of course, that the parking problem calls for a lot more expertness than the casual analyst can muster. The same goes for most other traffic problems.

That is the reason for the existence of such agencies as the Yale university bureau for street traffic research. The bureau has announced it will make parking studies in 27 cities among them a few in Ohio.

With results of an objective study of the parking problem available, any city will have the advantage of being able to approach it scientifically, instead of emotionally. If there's one thing the parking problem has too much of already, it's emotion.

TIME SAVER

In post mortems on the Louis-Paychek fight last week one looked in vain for mention of a single clean blow by the challenger in the less than four minutes he was eligible to bid for the world's heavyweight championship. This sets a new record for the heavyweight industry—a championship fight in which one contestant never raised his fists.

Joe Louis is a formidable champ. It would be a great time saver if his future opponents were shown his press clippings under a doctor's scrutiny. At the first sign of undue fright, the whole thing could be called off right then and there, instead of delaying the decision as long as Challenger Paychek did.

A RATHER perplexing and contradictory state of affairs may be read from this day's planetary configurations. In an attempt to break up some static or long-cry-alized conditions, there may be much strenuous effort brought to bear on knotty problems or peculiar frustrations. The mental outlook may be shrewd enough, but a propensity to attack difficulties by main force, impetuosity or rash tactics may complicate matters. The interference of strangers as well as friends should be considered with due caution. Help from unexpected sources may benefit and writings, contracts or correspondence may be winning factors.

Those whose birthday it is may encounter a year in which there may be difficult or conflicting situations to handle. These had best be attempted by naturally clever and intellectual processes rather than impetuous and reckless emotional stresses or turbulence. The solution to difficult problems may come through intervention from high places.

Cleanliness Is Essential
In Campaign On Dandruff

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

What is the treatment of dry scalp and dandruff?

Dry scalp in most instances is due to a type of skin inflammation called "seborrhea sicca." The principal characteristic of this is a dry, scaling scalp. The scales themselves may be oily. The hair and scalp are lustreless and the latter is of a grayish hue. There may be moderate itching.

Dandruff is simply the common name for the scales which fall off in seborrhea sicca of the scalp.

Once the disease is arrested, it usually requires continued attention for a further period to prevent recurrence.

The first element of treatment is to keep the scalp clean by frequent washing with soap and water. It is impossible to say how frequently.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

this should be done because it depends on how scaly the scalp is. On the average the scalp should be washed once a week, but with seborrhea sicca this should be done several times a week.

Various medicaments are used for dry scalp.

1939 Medical Gains

(4) That a new drug, sobisminol mass, is a potent medicine that can be taken by mouth to help kill hives. (5) That vitamin K stops certain forms of hemorrhages. (6) That human beings can be refrigerated to a state of "frozen sleep" which arrests cancer growth temporarily. (7) That repeated blood transfusions are an essential for treating severe burns successfully. (8) That swine may be the source of influenza epidemics by harboring the germs in latent form between epidemics. (10) That surgeons can close an opening which prevents the start of blood flowing through the heart of some newborn babies.

Value of Cheese
What is the value of cheese as an article of diet?

Cheese has high food value. It is one of our chief sources of calcium. American cheese contains about 0.7 per cent of calcium. Swiss cheese about one per cent. Cheese also contains much vitamin A. One pound of cheese furnishes over 2,000 calories and represents the proteins and fats of about a gallon of milk. Cheese even takes the place of meat because its proteins are complete. One ounce of cheese equals two eggs or eight ounces of milk or three ounces of meat.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

G: "I am bothered with canker sores on my mouth and tongue. They pain greatly. They take about two weeks to heal up."

Answer: There are a number of theories about the causation of canker sores. One is that they are due to allergy—sensitization to some food. Another is that they are due to focal infection in the mouth—a bad tooth. A dentist correspondent of mine thinks he is able to stop them and cure them by the use of triple phosphates.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. "SELF MADE GIRL" by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

CHAPTER XXV

When Linda had Blanche fixed up to her satisfaction, she went to the kitchen to see what she could do there. She was prepared to roll up her sleeves and give the housekeeper a hand, and surprised, and a little taken aback, to find everything running smoothly and Claudine in a wheel chair, proudly displaying young Blanche Linda.

"Get a chair and make yourself comfy, dear," Claudine cried. "Miss Painter, this is my youngest sister, Linda. Would you like to make us some nice, hot chocolate? Linda, you're just skin and bones! You look so thin and tired. Won't you stay with us and get a little rest? We can find room for you EASILY."

As always, Linda wanted to see everyone, then couldn't get away fast enough. She'd fled the cluttered fussiness of Blanche's cheap little flat, to Claudine's more crowded, cluttered one. She'd come prepared to sympathize and help, and here was Claudine boasting about her fat, rosy children, telling Linda she'd soon have her looking her old self if she'd stay and get a good rest away from the old office and the noise and dirt of New York.

Her favorite, Jean, was shy with her, and inclined to be loud and bossy with her sisters.

"Going through the smartly stage," Claudine explained, complacently.

The two little girls were friendly enough, after the strange lady produced toys and a box of candy, and proved she was Linda's friend, but they didn't remember her really.

Junior, taller than she now, gave her a limp, cold hand, and disappeared. Chester tried to be cordial, but couldn't conceal his resentment of her financial help.

And so, guiltily as usual, Linda cut her visit short, and went back to Blanche, who was sitting up in bed reading, and certainly didn't expect her back so soon.

"You ought to go and see Lawrie and his wife, too. Why don't you just run over now, dear? And if they ask you to stay to dinner, just you accept, because I can manage beautifully without you."

"I don't want to go and see Lawrie!"

"Oh, he'd be so glad to see you. And Della, too. She'd like to see you."

"I don't want to see her, either. I don't like her."

"But you do so much for Claudine, and Della does feel it!"

"I'm no philanthropist!" Linda cried angrily. "I'm not going to support the whole family. I just help Claudine because I'm sorry for the poor idiot and I—"

"Linda!"

"Oh, I don't mean it. The words just slipped out. Because I'm sorry for her, and I like the children, even if she had no business to have them."

"You'd be sorry for Della, too, if you saw her. She has so little, and she's such a pretty thing, though she is getting fat and her little boy is cunning."

"All the more reason for not seeing them. I'm sorry for enough people already. What's more, I'm a little sorry for myself."

"For YOURSELF? Why, Linda! With all you have! Bert was saying only the other day, that of us all, you've done the best. Of course, I feel that my profession counts for a lot, even if I don't make as much as you do, and have as much. You always were smart, Linda. I guess you were smarter than any of us gave you credit for, unless it was Bert. He was the only one who didn't worry when you went to New York. He said you'd get along. But we all worried—dreadfully."

"There was nothing to worry about," Linda said shortly. She thought, if you worried, why didn't you do something? I'd have starved to death if it hadn't been for Tanya's—

"I guess you were right not to marry George. Don't tell me you've forgotten George?"

"No, I haven't forgotten him. I did him rather a mean trick. What ever became of him, Blanche?"

"George? Oh he's fine. He's married, you know."

"They all seem to get married. Who'd he marry?"

"Gracious, I don't know. A girl. They have a real nice home over in Chester, Della says."

"You and I seem to be the only old maids in the country. Everyone else is married. Constance, and your favorite, Ruth Wagner, and Glenn McAllister, and—"

"I don't call myself an old maid," Blanche said tartly. "If I haven't married, it's because I haven't wanted to. I don't know any woman I'd change places with, either. And I don't know that I'm so old but what—"

"Oh, I was just fooling! While there's life there's hope, I suppose. Not that I consider matrimony the only end."

"I should hope not!"

Wonder what she'd think if she knew what Robert Deaming has in mind? Linda thought. For a moment she felt superior. Poor old Blanche. And then the glow faded. She was glad that Blanche didn't know, couldn't know, just how well she'd gotten along.

Her own room seemed luxurious, as she returned to it Sunday night. Her carefully kept, well weeded out possessions. The small beige and blue room, her smart black and white tile bath.

But it was taking too much of her salary now, and, anyway, she wanted to move. But not the way

Film Names Joined in Marriage

Newlyweds Noah Beery, Jr., son of the veteran screen actor, and Maxine Jones, daughter of the actor, Buck Jones, are pictured at Van Nuys, Cal., following their marriage. The couple is honeymooning in Mexico City.

"Oh, it's nothing serious. Perhaps I shouldn't have bothered you at all, but seeing you Saturday. I brought everything back. When Constance and I used to play together, and my mother and father were alive. They're both dead now, you know."

"I'm so sorry," Mr. Scott murmured. "I hadn't heard." It was plain he hadn't the remotest idea who the late Perrys were, as he added, "I don't think I ever met your parents. Stupid. Just never did."

Not very likely you ever would, Linda thought, suppressing a wild desire to laugh and cry at the same time.

"I've had rather a hard time, here in New York," she went on, when she could trust her voice. "I had almost no money and wanted to continue my education. I didn't get to college because of my mother's illness—(no need to say she didn't finish high school)—and so I took several courses at night, and I've studied and worked so hard that I really hate the place."

"Late, it's getting so that I... I just feel I can't stand it! I want to get away—go somewhere new. Only I'm a little frightened of making the move. I have no one to help me, you know. And I thought—knowing that you've seen so much more of the world and cities and conditions, that perhaps you could advise me what the chances would be.... I mean.... positions—"

"Did you think you'd like to come to Pittsburgh? A place in our plant, perhaps? Though I'm afraid—nothing you'd care for especially—a girl of your type—"

"Oh, I want to go far away. I don't know where, Baltimore is even too near—and so's Washington. I thought of the Pacific coast. I

THIRD PARTY IS LEWIS' THREAT

Demands Democrats Satisfactory to Labor

(By Associated Press)

MONONGAHE, W. Va., April 2.—Under threat of a third party move, John L. Lewis demands that the Democratic party select a presidential candidate and adopt a platform satisfactory "to labor and the common people."

Otherwise, the militant chieftain of the Congress of Industrial Organizations proposes to call a convention of his own "to formulate a program that each and every American can support."

Talks to Miners
His mandate, laid down in a blistering address before a throng of soft coal miners yesterday, avoided use of the phrase "third party," Lewis commenting afterwards "we'll reserve that for later."

The bushy-browed head of the United Mine Workers said he told the organization's Columbus convention that if the Democratic party wanted to work with labor "and common people," there was yet time to work out an acceptable program and agree upon a presidential candidate.

"If the Democratic party does not nominate a candidate for president or adopt a platform satisfactory to labor and the common people, I shall, after the conventions, propose and urge upon these various organizations the assembling of a great delegate convention."

Into that convention he proposed to enlist labor, youth, old age, negro and farmers' groups.

Asks Federal Inspection
Speaking at the scene of history's most tragic mine disaster, Lewis demanded that "congress stop this butchery of Americans in the coal mine." An explosion killed 361 miners here in 1907. Lewis said his United Mine Workers were trying to get congress to approve a bill for federal inspection of coal mines.

The gathering before which he appeared was one of many held through the coal fields on April 1. It is on that date the miners honor John Mitchell, president of the union at the time contracts were obtained granting an eight-hour day in 1898, and Lewis, who obtained contracts four years ago giving the coal diggers a seven-hour work day.

Before a gathering of miners at Logan, W. Va., Van A. Bittner, president of UMW district 17, offered the "four-hour" day as a possible solution of the unemployment problem.

SEEKS PROBE OF DIPLOMATS' ACTS

May Ascertain Whether U. S. Envoys Made Unneutral Remarks

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A proposal that the senate foreign relations committee try to ascertain whether Ambassadors William C. Bullitt and Joseph P. Kennedy have made unneutral statements drew Republican support today, but Democratic leaders opposed it.

The inquiry was proposed yesterday by Senator Reynolds (D-NC), who said that German publication of documents purporting to quote the two envoys made an investigation necessary.

A similar demand came from Rep. Fish (R-NY). He said a special committee should determine whether the facts warranted "impeachment of any American ambassador or minister or even of the President."

Senator Nye (R-ND) told reporters that "there is a definite obligation on the foreign relations committee to find out what has been done in the name of the United States by its alleged diplomats."

Although saying he did not believe Kennedy had engaged in any unneutral activities, Nye agreed with Reynolds that Bullitt, now in Washington on leave from his Paris post, should be called before the committee. Senator White (R-Me) said that the inquiry "wouldn't do any harm."

On the other hand, Chairman Pittman (D-Ne) of the foreign relations committee argued that an investigation was unnecessary, and would bring only a reiteration of denials by American officials.

Senator Van Nuys (D-Ind) called Reynolds' proposal "a little premature," and Senator Gillette (D-Iowa) said an inquiry "would be very unwise at this time."

Up-to-date rain accessories include the water-proofed handbag and matching umbrella in a flower print; 18-inch handbag with umbrella bottom.

The Chamberlain type of umbrella with hooked handle is easiest to check and to carry, and perhaps the smartest in hand. Keep toe rubbers in your purse and wear spot-resistant pigskin gloves.

good for the money. Its hood is separate, buttoning at the shoulders.

The checked cotton seersucker coat, right, is rubberized and more expensive. An umbrella comes to match the gay checks of navy on mauve, grey on red and green on wine.

Allies Intensify The "War," Still An Economic Campaign

Cabinets, Verbally Trowned, Speed Up Initiative, But Make No Fundamental Policy Change

BY DEWITT MACKENZIE

Every move which the Anglo-French Allies are making in their intensified campaign against Germany is directed primarily toward economic strangulation rather than military offensives.

The Allied parliaments which just before the Easter recess gave their cabinets round trouncings for alleged lack of initiative in conduct of the war, are finding at their resumed settings today that plenty of initiative has developed, but that there has been no fundamental change in policy.

Depend On Blockade

England and France continue to depend mainly on their blockade to choke Germany into submission. The initiative for any major offensive in the near future is likely to come from Hitler, if at all.

This is a crazy war in which anything can happen, but circumstances entitle us to presume that Hitler will be governed in his military program by the amount of pressure put on him by the blockade. His claim up to this juncture has been that he could beat the Allies at their own economic game, and his present activities indicate that he isn't through playing it yet.

One wonders, however, whether the Fuehrer's ideas have been changed any by the sudden coolness of his friends, Stalin and Mussolini. Soviet Premier Molotov Saturday announced that Russia is going to remain neutral. And a high quarter in Rome said that the triple entente which Hitler hoped to effect—Germany, Russia and Italy—wasn't a possibility at this time.

Time Against Nazis

Time is running against Germany, for the blockade already has been damaging. Hitler must either repair that damage quickly or strike with his fighting arms. Probably he feels he can afford to gamble a bit longer on the chance of improving his position in the Balkans and through Russia.

It seems to me, however, that the moment the probability develops in his mind that he is going to be beaten in the economic struggle, he is bound to lash out with his military weapons to try to save himself. Then may come the "blood bath" Berlin has been threatening.

The allies at the moment are concentrating on three weaknesses in their economic blockade:

1. The continued shipment of iron ore from Sweden to Germany, thereby providing the reich with a military necessity without which the Nazi armaments industry would be crippled.

2. The Balkans, upon which Hitler has been banking greatly for supplies, especially Rumanian oil. A battle royal is proceeding here—alloyed gold versus German barter trade.

3. The resale to Germany by neighboring neutrals of goods and raw materials purchased in America. There is much agitation in England and France to rigid rationing of German's neutral neighbors, but it is a mighty delicate subject and no formal move has yet been made, although ships carrying contraband have, of course, been detained.

It is in many respects the old story of the World's War. When the United States entered the war we passed measures for stopping all German trade and made it impossible for adjacent neutrals to re-export to the central powers.

One wonders whether that's a reason why the Allies would like us in the war now.

Longevity Formula

LOS ANGELES, April 2.—Taking things as they come has enabled Miss Frances Kelly, former Ohio school teacher, to live more than a century. That was the formula for longevity she gave yesterday as she observed her 108th birthday anniversary. Miss Kelly came here from Cincinnati three years ago, having retired from the Ohio public school system in 1912 after teaching in various public schools.

Fatally Injured

TOLEDO, April 2.—James Strayer, 35, Detroit, Mich., was injured fatally yesterday when he fell from the deck into the hold of the freighter Ben E. Tate, moored at the Baltimore & Ohio railroad dock here. He died in St. Vincent's hospital early today.

hazard an estimate of property damage. However, veteran rivermen said that most communities and relief agencies were better prepared for the emergency during the 1936 flood and that property damage probably would be less.

Ohio Waters Menace

CINCINNATI, April 2.—Flood waters which unleashed their fury in the east surged menacingly down the Ohio today but the river was expected to reach an early crest in this district before causing further damage.

Although still rising at the rate of three tenths of a foot an hour, the water was mostly within its dikes.

After flooding a section of Pittsburg before reaching a crest, the river rose to 36 feet in Steubenville, one foot above flood stage, and then started to recede.

Lowland roads in eastern Ohio were under water, including portions of State Route 7 north of Steubenville, and at Mingo Junction. Marietta merchants, fearful of flood waters, moved stocks as the River swelled toward a predicted 35 feet.

Danger Diminishes

Danger diminished at Cincinnati with word of the upstream crests. "Unless there are further rains we don't expect the river to reach flood stage here," John Van Orsdall, weather observer, said.

The river was slightly over 33 feet here but the flood stage at Cincinnati, throughout most of this section, and at Huntington, W. Va., is over the 50-foot mark.

The weather bureau expected a crest here of 45 feet Thursday, but receding water upstream indicated to rivermen that the peak might be sooner.

An offer for help was sent by Acting Mayor Andrew Broadbuss of Louisville to flood ravaged Wilkes-Barre, Pa., where the Susquehanna rose to nine feet above flood stage and drove thousands from their homes.

"The City of Louisville remembers too well the help you sent us in 1937," Broadbuss said.

Takes New Post

WESTERVILLE, April 2.—H. M. Dixon, superintendent of Johnstown, O., schools, has been appointed to a similar position in the Westerville school district. He succeeds Reed S. Johnston, who retires June 1.

Searching Parties Scale Mt. Hood In Hunt for Missing

MOUNT HOOD, Ore., April 2.—Three search parties toiled up Mount Hood's north face today, hoping to find Gerald Hermann and James Lorentz alive but expecting to discover their bodies at the base of a sheer 1,500-foot cliff which dropped from the summit.

Grim clues were found by a rescue group which reached the 11,245-foot summit at dusk yesterday. Footprints led to inches from the cliff edge, the searchers radioed. There were no tracks leading back.

In the summit cabin was found an entry in the climbers' register: "March 31—too cold to write." It was unsigned, but no others besides the missing Oregon climbers had attempted to ascend in Sunday's terrific gale.

Forest Ranger Harold Engles, who led the summit party, said the tracks of Hermann, 28, of Milwaukee, Ore., and Lorentz, 19, Oregon City, led to the cabin, thence almost to the brink of the precipice.

Engles believed the two, storm-blinded, stepped off the edge or were blown over.

Relatives of the pair clung to hope they had succeeded in the perilous north side descent, pointing out that both were experienced mountaineers and well equipped to "hole up" until the storm abated.

FAVORS REPEAL OF SALES TAX
Ex-Gov. Davey Calls Tax Heavy Burden On Poor People
COLUMBUS, April 2.—Martin L. Davey declared today if he is elected governor he will propose repeal of Ohio's 3 per cent sales tax.
He described as "obnoxious and annoying" the tax which has produced $236,224,219 since it was imposed on Jan. 27, 1935. It yielded $4,404,070 last year.
"One of the worst objections to the sales tax is the fact that it lays a heavy burden on the poor people who have to struggle to make ends meet and with whom pennies count in a serious way," said the former governor in a statement.
Davey, who seeks Democratic nomination for a third term in the May 14 primary, did not propose a substitute for the sales tax, but asserted:
"I do not propose to let the State of Ohio fail to furnish sufficient money for the schools of this state, for relief purposes and for increased old age pensions."
He said that he vetoed $16,000,000 of "unnecessary appropriations" in his four years as governor and suggested that a reduction in state expenses might help offset the loss of the sales tax.
Davey sponsored a constitutional amendment in 1933 which abolished the sales tax on food purchased for consumption off the premises where sold, and this cut more than $12,000,000 a year from the levy's yield.
The sales tax could be abolished either by legislative enactment or by a constitutional amendment.

SCHOOLS TURN INTEREST TO SPRING SPORTS.

HEAVY PROGRAM SCHEDULED FOR HIGH ATHLETES

Track, Baseball, Tennis And Golf Events Are Planned

BY FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, April 2.—Ohio's High School Athletic association, $17,301.59 ahead as the result of county, sectional, district and state basketball tournaments, is about to spend part of that profit on an elaborate series of spring-summer sports contests.

H. R. Townsend, state scholastic commissioner, announced today 12 district baseball tournaments, 11 track meets, nine golf tournaments and eight tennis matches, in which qualifiers will be selected for the state finals at Columbus, May 24 and 25.

The state association picks up no revenue from the summer sports, but does spend a rather husky amount for trophies and other necessities.

Tourney Receipts
The county basketball tournaments, which attracted 240,234 customers and $78,887.65 in receipts, paid $2,741.64 into the association treasury this year. Sectional and district play, for which 170,074 fans paid $56,291.10, gave the association $10,632.62. The state meet, with 30,237 customers paying $16,917.36, netted the association $3,927.35 after paying all expenses, including a bonus for each team.

District meets on the spring schedule, all slated in May, are: TRACK: May 11 at Uhrichsville; May 18 at Delaware, Cleveland, Salem, Mentor, Poland, Bowling Green, Mansfield and Springfield; May 17-18 at Athens and Cincinnati. BASEBALL: May 10-11 at Bridgeport, Tiffin and Defiance; May 10-11-12 at Kent, Kenton, Toledo and Dayton; May 10-11-14-16 at Cincinnati; May 17-18 at Athens; May 18 at South Euclid; May 20 at Findlay.

GOLF: May 11 at St. Clairsville; May 17-18 at Athens and Springfield; May 18 at Columbus, Salem, Canton, Bucyrus, Toledo and Cincinnati.

TENNIS: May 10-11-15 at Cincinnati; May 17-18 at New Concord, Athens, Springfield; May 18 at Columbus, Cleveland, Akron and Bowling Green.

Shows Gain
State-wide tournament basketball showed a hefty gain this season over 1939, the annual report submitted by Townsend showed. This year's title play attracted 440,545 customers, as compared with 398,790 a year ago, while the 1940 receipts were $152,096.11 as compared with $138,079.29 for the 1939 tournaments.

The Stark county Class B event at Canton drew $3,976.60 to top the preliminary tournaments, the Wood county tourney at Bowling Green finishing second with $2,033 in receipts. None of the others reached the $2,000 figure, and only 28 of the 85 topped the $1,000 mark. The Northwestern district led the sectional district field with a "take" of $14,415.85, the northeastern area being second with $13,744.02. The northeastern finals at Kent, with receipts of $4,617.28 led the individual meets, none of the others getting into the $3,000 division.

The top-ranking Colonial Finance lost three games to Flooding & Reynard in the Quaker City league, but remained safely out in front despite the set-backs.

Other Quaker City matches saw the Hotel Lape take three games from the Coy Buicks, the Masons gain three wins over the Golden Eagle, Grate Ford V-8's post two wins over the Salem Motor and Burt Capel Realtors receive three wins on a forfeit by the Recreation Billiards.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, April 2.—Horsemen here say doctors have ordered Col. E. R. Bradley not to start Eimelech in the Kentucky Derby because the colic is too ill to stand the excitement. Lou Ambers can get $30,000 for laying his lightweight crown on the line against George Laika in Los Angeles. (Movie Star George Raft, who owns a slice of Laika, will underwrite the guarantee.) Joe McCarthy isn't saying so publicly, but he regards Marvin Brewer, the big fellow from Kansas City, the best right-handed pitching recruit since Johnny Allen came up.

Hot Seats

Major leaguers on the spot this year: Ken Keltner (he asked unemployment insurance). Ernie Lombardi (parked overtime in the world's series). Benny McCoy (got a $45,000 bonus). Dum Dimaggio (he's the little brother). Watch their progress the first time around the circuit.

Al Patnik, Ohio State's diving star, is about to weaken and accept Billy Rose's offer of $250 per week to turn pro and join Billy's World's Fair aquacade troupe.

The east will not see Lee Sovold again for six months or a year. Jimmy Carroll's St. Louis book quotes the Cardinals at 2-1 to pace the National and the Yanks 1-3 in the American. Also Carroll has slashed the price on Carrier Pigeon in the derby winter book from 30-1 to 15-1.

Chicago papers are accusing Al Hostak and Cefterio Garcia, the N. B. A. and New York-California midweight champs, of ducking Tony Zale, the new knockout sensation.

The Johnston Plan

Jimmy Johnston is urging Mike Jacobs to retire Joe Louis until September. Then have the Max Baer-Tony Galento winner meet the winner of an Arturo Godoy-Bob Pastor fight for a shot at the champion in September. They might do worse, at that.

Godoy blew in from the coast yesterday yelling for a June showdown. The Durham (N. C.) High cagers who won the Glen Falls eastern states tournament to top off a winning streak of 69 in a row, are doing the town.

Before they went into the finals Saturday night they received a telegram six feet 10 inches long, signed by 652 home town rosters. It was the longest wire ever sent out of the Durham office.

Today's Guest Star

Edward Burns, Chicago Tribune: "Dizzy Dean attracts less and less attention with each passing day. The poor fellow is even turning hand springs in a desperate attempt to gain notice."

Election Result: The liberals won over the conservatives in Frederick Okla., the other day when the town voted 2-1 to permit bowling alleys to operate. However, Frederick still is a safe place to live, for it didn't go the whole hog and reopen the pool rooms.

100 Boys Receive Try At Pro Game

CHICAGO, April 2.—No less than 100 boys from the bushes have a chance to begin the climb toward professional baseball success through the rehabilitation program of the Chicago White Sox.

Farm boss Billy Webb has collected this horde of young ball players from the sandlots for a shot at the pro game. Webb will assemble his young hopefuls at Jonesboro, Ark., between April 4 and 11 and begin drills. The best 70 players of the lot will be given jobs with White Sox-owned clubs six with clubs working with the American leaguers.

PERRONI FIGHTS WALKERTO DRAW

Columbus Fighter Keeps Ohio Heavyweight Championship

COLUMBUS, April 2.—Floored for the count of nine in the second round, Jack "Buddy" Walker recovered to gain a draw with Patsy Perroni of Canton and retain his Ohio heavyweight championship last night.

Referee Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight king, gave each batter three rounds and called four even. The thrilling match was watched by 9,987 fans, a record for the Ohio capital.

Perroni, an experienced fighter, outmaneuvered the Columbus Negro at arms length but the champion gained points on the infighting.

Walker was most impressive in the eighth round of their 10-round contest, staggering the Italian with head and body punches.

The bout rounded out Walker's first year in the ring. It was his 18th fight and his first failure to emerge victorious.

Tells Probers How Blast Was Started

COLUMBUS, April 2.—The origin of an explosion which killed 72 men at the Willow Grove coal mine near St. Clairsville, March 18 was fixed by a mine official today as near the spot where 200 pounds of powder had been stored in a metal container.

Charles R. Nailer, of St. Clairsville, acting superintendent of the Hanna Coal Co. mine, told a department of industrial relations committee that the powder box was found after the disaster lying on its side with the lid ripped off. He said the interior showed powder burns.

Nailer, under questioning by Nelson Hovey, assistant director of industrial relations, admitted that in his opinion the mine had not been as free as it might have been in the use of rock dusting, a process used to prevent coal dust explosions. He added that during the past year the company had been testing rock dusting machinery and had definitely planned a more expensive rock dusting program.

Extend PWA Time

The Johnson and Carson Co. of Cleveland was granted an extension of contract from April 1 to May 1 to complete the PWA project at the High school building. The firm has completed a concrete driveway east of the school building and is now completing cement work on the north side of the building.

Supt. Kerr announced that six new fire extinguishers have been placed in the new six-room High school addition.

The board approved the re-appointment of H. H. Sharp as trustee of the Salem public library for the 1940-41 term. His term had expired March 31.

The superintendent reported that, during the week of March 11, Ohio State university made available to Salem High school the services of Dr. W. A. Rosebrook, psychological consultant, who was helpful in the solution of some problems of getting children better adjusted to school work.

Board members also approved the spreading of fertilizer on the greenward of Reilly stadium and okayed the enlargement of the stoker coal bins at the Fourth Street school building.

TREASURY AID OPPOSES RATE

Bell Against 3 Percent Interest Charge On Farm Loans

WASHINGTON, April 2.—Daniel W. Bell, undersecretary of the treasury, today proposed a 3 per cent interest rate for federal farm loans and suggested a flexible rate depending on the federal cost of borrowing money.

Bell, testifying before the house agriculture committee, found fault with some points of a pending bill which would revamp the government's farm credit machinery, making permanent a 3 per cent interest rate compared with 3½ and 4 per cent at present, and refinancing the millions of dollars of 4 per cent land bank commissioner and land bank bonds outstanding. It also would loosen foreclosure provisions now in effect.

Bell told the committee that proponents of the 3 per cent rate were figuring that borrowed money costs the treasury about two per cent, whereas on February 29, the average interest rate on the federal debt was about two and a half per cent.

Approves Some Features

He objected to the flat 3 per cent rate because it contemplated the treasury subsidizing the federal land banks for any interest they had to pay in excess of 2 per cent on money they borrowed for lending to farmers.

Bell approved some features of the bill, such as a full treasury guarantee of federal land bank bonds, and dissolution of the federal farm mortgage corporation.

He suggested many other changes, however. He said the bill proposed full tax exemption to holders of federal land bank bonds, and said these bonds should have no greater exemption than ordinary treasury bonds, which usually are exempted only from the normal income tax. He also opposed elimination of a requirement that borrowing farmers subscribe five per cent to the capital stocks of the land banks, because the treasury might have to make up this money.

VOTE WATCHED IN WISCONSIN

While politicians watched to see which way the political straws would blow in the Wisconsin winds, they speculated over John L. Lewis' statement yesterday at Monongah, W. Va., that he would summon labor, youth, old age, Negro and farmers' organizations to a convention of his own in the event that the Democrats failed to meet the conditions he laid down for action at their convention.

Seen as "Trial Balloon"

The CIO leader's speech produced some stir in Washington, but prominent Democrats were inclined to discount its importance. Some spoke of it as a "trial balloon." Lewis already possesses the frame-work of a national political organization in labor's non-partisan league, which he heads.

Elsewhere the political news included New York's primary today for the selection of convention delegates, the entry of the name of Senator Taft (R., Ohio) in New Jersey where Dewey already has filed, a municipal election in Kansas City which may produce political signposts, and a hint from James Cromwell minister to Canada, that he may run for the Democratic senatorial nomination in New Jersey.

The filing of Taft's name by "petitions" in New Jersey an hour before the midnight deadline last night did not assure a direct test of strength with Dewey. Taft has not permitted his name to be entered against Dewey's thus far in any state, and it would be possible for him to withdraw in New Jersey before the May 21 primary.

CENSUS TAKERS LAUNCH "QUIZ"

Eight Are Assigned To Cover Salem City District

Introduced a bill to rescind the 60-day jail penalty which may be imposed for failure to supply census information.

Get 4 Cents Apiece

Regardless of Tobey's efforts, the census army was on the march. No home was too fine nor none too mean for the enumerators. Uncle Sam promised the enumerators 4 cents apiece (or a little more in special cases) for the name and vital statistics on every one of his estimated 132,000,000 nephews and nieces.

Overshadowing all popular quiz games of the moment, the census had, legally, the one central purpose of finding out exactly how many Americans there were, so that the states could be allotted their fair share of the seats in the house of representatives. The authors of the constitution planned it that way, and the nose-counting has been done every 10 years.

But official's looked for other information which may influence the nation's legislative and social outlook for years to come.

The enumerators were ordered not only to count the population, but to find out how many were unemployed, how many people live in tourist camps, how many have migrated in flight from dust or hard times in the last five years, how many own their own homes, what crops they raise, what sanitary and electrical facilities they have, and a multitude of other questions.

"Grandmother's Day" Lobbyists, 42 to 82, Storm Capitol Hill

WASHINGTON, April 2.—A determined band of lobbyists descended on Capitol Hill today—62 grandmothers and four great-grandmothers.

They want congress to set aside the first Sunday in October as "grandmother's day."

"We're out to get our day," exclaimed Mrs. Grace Gray of Chicago, head of the National Grandmothers' club which has come to town to celebrate the second anniversary of its founding and also to do a bit of sight-seeing.

"If we don't take our own day we may take over Mother's day," Mrs. Gray went on. "After all we were mothers before we were grandmothers."

Mrs. Gray, who has two grandchildren and is the only woman ever to have run for mayor in Chicago, was supported in her lobbying activities by her mother, Mrs. Emma C. Thomas, 82, the oldest grandmother on the trip.

The ages of other club members range downward to 42; but age doesn't count, for the club proclaims: "There are no old grandmothers any more."

Mahoning Counts

YOUNGSTOWN, April 2.—Work of taking the census in Youngstown will require the services of 141 of the 201 canvassers assigned to Mahoning county.

John F. Willis, supervisor, said that the other 60 enumerators would cover Campbell, Struthers, Lowellville, Sebring and the rural districts.

Get Wage Boosts

EAST PALESTINE, April 2.—City council last night voted a five-cent hourly wage increase to laborers in the water, electric, sewage and service departments affecting about 14 workers. The new wage scale will be 55 cents an hour.

Marino Is Arrested In Purse "Snatch"

Grilled yesterday afternoon by Salem police and Youngstown detectives, Angelo Marino, 19, of 422 S. Ellsworth ave., admitted that he drove and accompanied Robert Shannon, 19, of Salem, to Youngstown Saturday night when Shannon was stabbed in the stomach after snatching a woman's pocket-book.

Marino was taken to Youngstown by Detectives John Thomas and Earl Hoffman who, with Chief Ralph Stoffer and Patrolman Nerr Gaunt, arrested Marino here yesterday.

Shannon is in City hospital here, recovering from the stab wound which was inflicted, police say, by one of two men who chased and caught Shannon after he grabbed a purse from Mrs. Abbie Taylor in Youngstown Saturday night.

Chief Stoffer said he understood Youngstown police were going to charge the pair with highway robbery.

Marino told the officers yesterday that he drove around the block while Shannon got out to steal the pocketbook, but that when he came back to pick up his companion he failed to find him.

BREAD AND IRON ARE WAR PRIZES

Blockade and Diplomacy Conflicts Continue In Europe

(By Associated Press)

Bread and iron, the necessities of mankind and machinery, were the sought-after prizes today in the war of blockade and diplomacy between Germany and the British-French Allies.

As a by-product of this conflict Switzerland approached general mobilization by calling tens of thousands of soldiers to the colors for April 15 and 22.

Renewed Allied reliance was seen in the determination to cut off Germany's iron imports from Sweden.

Premiers Report

Prime Minister Chamberlain of Britain and Premier Paul Reynaud of France went before the house of commons and the chamber of deputies to discuss their push-the-war efforts on the basis of blockade.

Observers expected the Allies to exhaust every effort of diplomacy and economic pressure on Germany's neutral neighbors before resorting to stern measures.

Fighting along similar lines, Germany was said on high authority to have proposed to Roumania that a half-million of that country's 1,600,000 soldiers be demobilized to raise grain for the reich.

Six thousand German agricultural experts would be sent to Roumania to help organize production.

Roumanians, however, argued that relaxation of their defenses would be unsafe, and quarters close to King Carol said that any demobilization was doubtful.

That the allies recognized their own stake in this section of southeast Europe was evident from conferences expected in Paris and London later this week among their envoys to the Balkans.

British Busy

The British already are conducting trade talks with Yugoslavia, and similar treating, with Roumania is expected soon.

The British reported that the German freighter Mimi Horn, 4,007 tons, had been scuttled by her crew when intercepted in northern waters on a run from the Netherlands West Indies.

Allied and neutral shipping losses for the week ending Sunday were placed on the admiralty at 13,901 tons, fourth lowest since the war began last September.

There were exchanges of artillery fire on the western front, the French reported; while the German high command described aerial conflicts over France and over the North sea in which it said one German, one British and two French planes were shot down yesterday.

The French said they lost no planes.

As in Europe, diplomatic doings continued to occupy attention in the United States. Democratic leaders opposed a Republican-supported proposal that the senate foreign relations committee ascertain whether Ambassadors Kennedy and Bullitt had made unneutral statements.

Study Nazi Documents

The question arose from German publication of documents, alleged to be Polish diplomatic reports, ascribing pro-Allied statements to the American ambassadors in London and Paris.

James H. R. Cromwell, the United States minister to Canada, who drew a slap on the wrist from Secretary of State Hull two weeks ago for publicly expressing sympathy for the Allies, made another talk in Canada last night.

"I like fireworks," he told a Toronto audience, "but I have been told that they should be saved for the Fourth of July, and even then state officials are not supposed to take part in setting them off."

Fireworks of more than a verbal nature continued in China's long war with Japan. The official Chinese Central news agency reported the routing of 10,000 Japanese who made a four-day counter-attack on the city of Wuhan, in the northern province of Szechuan, and described a spread of fighting in the southern province of Kwangsi.

To 5,000,000 or more northern Chinese, however, starvation was a more imminent specter than Japanese invaders.

Reports reaching Peiping said that famine conditions were probably the worst in 40 years, with the population of 12,000 villages reduced to eating weeds in a countryside almost devoid of food or the hope of food.

Killed By Auto

STEBENVILLE, April 2.—Struck by an automobile, Benjamin Shorts, 70, was killed yesterday.

NAZI FREIGHTER FIRED, SCUTTLED

4,007-ton Mimi Horn Held Up By British In "Northern Water"

(By Associated Press)

LONDON, April 2.—The British admiralty announced today that the German freighter Mimi Horn, out of Curacao, Netherlands West Indies, had been intercepted in "northern waters" by British men-of-war and then fired and scuttled by her own crew.

The admiralty announcement said the sinking brought to 303,946 tons Germany's merchant ship losses by capture and sinking. The Mimi Horn, whose port of registry was Hamburg, was a 4,007-ton vessel.

Low Loss Figure

Losses to allied and neutral shipping for the week ending last Sunday midnight, meanwhile, were reported at 13,901 tons, the fourth lowest weekly figure since the start of the war and the lowest since the first week of 1940.

An informed source said the decrease in allied and neutral shipping losses to the work of British minesweepers and to the fact that German submarines "think it unwise to attack convoys."

One of the vessels included in the list of losses for the week was the 5,742-ton British tanker Daghestan, which sank after being bombed by German aircraft off the northeast coast of Scotland.

The 5,439-ton freighter Barnhill, which was bombed and set on fire the preceding week, also is regarded now as a total loss.

The sinking of a German submarine which had torpedoed a neutral ship in convoy "some weeks ago" was described in an eye witness account made public through the ministry of information.

Sub Surrenders

Three British destroyers, a French destroyer and a British flying boat dropped depth charges and bombs, forcing the submarine to the surface, it was said, and there it surrendered, fatally damaged.

All of the submarine crew were picked up, according to the British, except the commander who remained aboard his craft. The submarine then sank.

Members of the destroyer crews said the submarine was located by a new "hush-hush" device, which naval officers lyrically describe as "impalpable fingers groping beneath the surface of the sea."

Crewmen of the British tanker El Clervo reported in Halifax, N. S., last night that they believed they had sunk a German submarine in a fight March 4 off Trinidad. The gunner said the submarine disappeared after he had fired 16 shots and that there had been no further reports of undersea craft in that area.

DEATHS

MISS LAURA BARNABY

Miss Laura Barnaby, 79, former resident of Alliance, died suddenly at 3:30 a. m. today at the Home For Aged Women. She had been ill six weeks as the result of a heart ailment.

Born near Alliance Sept. 10, 1860, she was the daughter of Lea and Zilpah Barnaby. She was the last immediate member of her family. Mrs. Karl Webster of Salem is a cousin.

Miss Barnaby came to Salem four years ago from Alliance. The funeral service will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday at the Arbaugh-Pearce parlors, followed by interment in Alliance City cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday evening.

Human Ostrich Is Jail Lodger Here

No wonder he complained of cramps! A Los Angeles man who gave his name as Prince Ucon complained of "gas" and stomach pains when Patrolman Paul Ormsby removed him from the middle of the street where he collapsed last night.

When the officer booked him on a charge of intoxication, "the prince" said he had made his way from East Liverpool where he paid in pain for drinks obtained at beer halls by entertaining patrons with his swallowing of a watch, a penknife and several razor blades. He topped off this diet with several cartridges from a Liverpool patrolman's gun belt.

Mayor Norman Phillips freed the turban-crowned prince at a hearing this morning when the prisoner presented his credentials, showing that he made his living by his sideshow performances.

For the mayor's benefit, the prince showed a spike up his nose and out of sight.
